The Riesling Alte Reben 14 was read late. Due to the high maturity and the high sugar content, the yeast has given up 28.6 g / l sugar residue and left the wine semi-sweet. Because of the typical acidity for Riesling and the wonderfully present minerality of the Urgesteinsboden, the Restsüße is nicely integrated and does by far not sweet. The Riesling Alte Reben Fruchtsüß shows an intense beautiful straw yellow in the glass. It smells of ripe apricots, which harmoniously blend harmoniously with the typical Riesling acid and the Kamptaler mineralics. This wine can certainly be taken with its competition from the Moselle :-)
