The Riesling Alte Reben comes - as its name suggests - from one of our older plants. The vines were planted back in the 1960s. They bring high quality because the grapes and berries are very small due to the age of the vines. The maturation potential is also very high as a result. The harvest is rather late. The vineyard stands at about 320m above sea level on a clay soil with flinzstein. The Riesling Alte Reben 16 is a beautiful dry white wine with ripe fruits, fine mineral notes and a long finish. 10% mash fermentation surrounds the fine, fruity wine with a little tannin and ensures more full-bodiedness. A good drinkable Riesling, which is also a good accompaniment to light dishes.
