Riesling is also known as the king of white wines. It is a native variety typical of the region and thrives very well on very barren, stony soil. Only there does it develop its characteristic aroma. Its yield is very low, which means that the quality is particularly good. The Riesling Terrassen 2019 impresses with its beautiful fruit, pleasant acidity and a fine mineral finish. From our experience we can say that Riesling always needs some time in the bottle and then in the glass until it develops its full aroma. So the wine has storage potential.
